Introduction

In the beginning, the Earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the face of the deep.

Several million years later, the Earth became kingdom to a superior species of beings commonly referred as "Cats", who ruled upon any land their paws could touch.

When human beings started to move on a different digital domain called "The Internet", cats swiftly imposed their dominance on that too, colonizing forums, chats, newsletters and social networks.

The only part of the Internet yet to be conquered was "The Cryptoverse", a weird place where humans exchange digital assets in a fungible or non-fungible fashion, aiming to create a new, fair and decentralized economic system.

As today, the Cryptoverse is riddled with any kind of inferior creatures running amok among bulls and bears, such as dogs, lobsters, apes, penguins, llamas and, for a brief period, mongooses, fighting to become rulers as in a bad spin-off of Game of Thrones. This cannot be accepted.

The purpose of this Token is to give back the Cryptoverse to its lawful rulers: Cats, starting with the creation and the global distribution of a new meme-coin, $Pudgy Token, which neither has any financial value nor any technological break through to push off the table, but which is so cute and fluffy and adorable, staring at you with those big eyes you can't really say "No" to.

Catechnical Details

$Pudgy Token is minted on Cardano, the best blockchain of them all, and it takes all its technical characteristics from it.

- It is as cool as Cardano (but plushier)
- It is as fast as Cardano (but sneakier)
- It is as scalable as Cardano (but it can climb higher)
- It is as secure as Cardano (but don't leave your food unattended, there's a reason if this token is pudgy)

We could leave you with more technological promises, but nap time is looming.

Catokenomics

The total (and circulating) supply of $Pudgy Tokens is set to 1.000T tokens (but if you like to stare at long lists of zeroes, here's the full number: 1.000.000.000.000.000).

“Why this much?” you might ask. The reason is simple: any number multiplied by zero equals to zero, so why bother with a different number when this one seems to be the standard? Plus we believe in equality, so we want to give anyone the chance to become a worthless meme-millionaire.

Of course you're now expecting a pie chart to show you how we'll allocate $Pudgy Tokens, but Pudgy ate the pie, so the best we can offer you is a paw chart.

- 10% Team & Founders
 - 40% Pudgy Box
 - 50% TBD
- Oh, look, a fourth toe!
 - The bottom part is very soft, you can squish it (it`s really satisfying)

Team & Founders

10% of the supply will be held by the ones who made $Pudgy Token possible, just to let them feel like whales, at least for once.

Pudgy Box

40% of the supply will be available through the Pudgy Box, which is the place where Pudgy spends most of his spare time planning on how to conquer the world (and also our token faucet available on pudgycat.io)

To Be Determined

50% of the supply will find a use in future. Did you say CNFTs? Maybe. Did you say Staking Pool? Who knows. Did you say BURN? Yo mama so pudgy that... Oh, sorry, you said "Burn", not "Roast".

Conclusions

As an old song used to say: "Everybody want to be a cat". To this we answer "Hallelujah" or, as we say in our language: "MEOW".

The revolution begins today. Sharpen your fingernails on the best sofa you can reach and join us into the box. You won't get rich, but you'll reserve your place in the right side of history.
